ITALIAN MINISTERS QUIT; MAY DELAY PEACE MEET

YEAR OF WAR COST AMERICANS $18,160,000,000

2 BILLIONS SPENT IN DECEMBER

Record Expenditure of Month Puts Aggregate at $21,500,000,000

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—It cost the American people about $18,160,000,000 to run its expensive war government and make loans to the allies in the year ending today, according to computations from treasury reports.

December expenditures were above $20,000,000,000, the record of the national history, sent aggregate war costs to date to approximately $21,500,000,000.

Of the $18,160,000,000 probably $10,000,000,000 went for the army and the general military establishment, about $2,000,000,000 for the navy, $1,000,000,000 for the ship-building program, $1,000,000,000 for other civil government needs and $1,160,000,000 as loans to America's allies in arms.

That the public has paid only about one-third of the war's expenses excluding foreign loans, in taxes in cash, and two-thirds as loans to be repaid in another general tax, is indicated by treasury figures of collections from various sources.

NEW YEARS

Dances, Skating Parties, Suppers, Theatres, All Ready to Welcome in New 1919.

It's about up, the old year. So pack all your troubles away back in the dark and take a new grip on life tonight, even if you break your resolutions all by tomorrow.

Dancing, late theater parties, whistle blowing, church services, and a thousand other flourishes, will be a part of the ceremony of ushering in 1919.

The snow having covered the ground conveniently, there will be a number of sleighing parties during the night hours. Lake Monona never presented a cleaner sheet of skating promenade in its history, but beware of the ice, is the official warning.

There will be plenty of dancing for those who revel in such pastime. The Par hotel has announced a big dance for the Fatherless Children of France. The regular dancing halls will be ready for a rushing business.

In keeping with tradition, the Orph will put on a late show that will be a fitting and mirthful closing to the year. The Elks will whoop things up at their lodge house, as will practically every other lodge in the city.

And for those who prefer something more serious in closing the old year the churches have provided watch meetings in practically all parts of the city.

No one is supposed to go to bed before 12 o'clock tonight. Those who elink off before the accepted hour are in danger of not waking up till next year.

Then the government comes along and suggests the following good idea:

What are you worth to yourself? To help every American find the answer, the government has asked that Jan. 1, be nationally observed as "Personal Inventory Day."

It is suggested that every man, woman and child take account of his or her personal property, savings and debts, and make plans for twelve months of getting ahead during 1919.

PACKING HOUSE QUESTION GOES TO LABOR HEADS

Mrs. Wheeler and McCreash Here to Bring Peaceful Settlement

Peaceful settlement of the controversy between the employers and the employees of the Farmers' Co-operative Packing plant, is the object of T. A. McCreash, and Mrs. W. C. Wheeler of Kansas City, general organizers for the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Workmen of North America, who have been sent to Madison by the international organization at the request of W. R. Murphy, president of the local union.

The international is opposed to strikes except as a final resort after every measure of conciliation has been tried, and the impression that the employees of the Madison company have gone on a strike is an erroneous one," Mr. McCreash declared today.

"Mrs. Wheeler and myself have been sent here from headquarters to help in adjusting the differences which exist between the Farmers' Co-operative Packing company and its employees. The employees have not gone on a strike. In fact, it is especially stated in the laws of the union that a strike cannot be ordered without the consent of the executive committee of the international organization. The employees will remain at work while the difficulties are being settled."

Mr. McCreash and Mrs. Wheeler are working with the employees to ascertain the conditions which exist in the local plant. President W. E. Moore has been asked to get the stockholders of the company together. When this is done, Mr. McCreash is prepared to present before the latter the facts in the case; the wages the employees are receiving here compared with wages paid in other cities; the enormous increase in the cost of living; and the need of the employees for higher wages.

A meeting of the local union for tonight has been called so that Mr. McCreash and Mrs. Wheeler can speak to the employees, all of whom belong to the union.

Refusal of President Moore to grant increases which had been promised in an agreement with the employees several months ago was the immediate cause for the present difficulties.

BOMB HOMES OF CITY'S OFFICIALS

Three Men Prominent in Public Life Attacked in Explosion

ANARCHISTS TO BLAME? Revenge Against Enforcing Law Against Sedition, Motive?

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Shrapnel shells loaded with nitro-glycerine or T. N. T., were exploded late last night at the homes of three men prominent in public life. There was considerable destruction of property.

Revenge against the enforcing of police authority, and the law against sedition, and the display of the red flag of anarchy in this city, the police officials said, furnished the motive.

The houses attacked were those of Justice Robert V. V. Moschizker of the Pennsylvania supreme court; Ernest T. Trigg, president of the Philadelphia chamber of commerce; and William B. Mills, acting superintendent of police. Eight houses adjoining these residences were damaged by the explosions.

The three homes are in widely separated sections of the city. The first bombed was that of Mr. Trigg, which is in the western section. Here the bomb was exploded at 10:45 p. m. Ten minutes later the home of Mr. Mills, nearly three miles distant, was attacked and 15 minutes afterward Judge von Moschizker's house, nearly four miles from the Mills residence was visited by the bomb throwers. The authorities believe the Trigg bomb was intended for the home of Municipal Court Judge Gorman, who resides next door.

Police officials refuse to tell what clues they have, if any. All federal agencies are cooperating with the police. One theory is that one party of men using an automobile had committed all three outrages.

At the scenes of the explosions the police picked up circulars printed on yellow paper which contained the text of the bomb throwers. The heading read: "To the exploiters, the judges, the oligarchs, the priests and the soldiers," this was followed by 200 words of a harangue on the rights of the people.

From fragments of iron and steel gathered up after the explosions, Surgeon Mills hopes to be able to ascertain the type of bomb used by the miscreants. Twelve pieces of steel, believed to be from the inside of the bomb, were found near his home.

BERGER TELLS STORY OF SOCIALISM

Milwaukee Editor Takes Stand in Espionage Case

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Victor L. Berger took the witness stand in his own defense at the opening of today's session of the trial of himself and four other socialist leaders on charges of conspiracy to violate the anti-sedition law.

Berger told the story of socialism in America and of his own anti-war activities as a leader of the socialist party. Nervous at first, the witness soon regained his composure. He spoke with a strong German accent which was explained by the fact that he was born in Austria and was 20 years of age when he came with his parents to the United States. He said his conversion to socialism took place in 1881. He traced the development of the socialist movement, 1880 to 1897. In the latter year he and others, he said, organized the present socialist party.

Gov. E. L. Philipp sent the following New Year's greeting to the people of Wisconsin today:

"The world is passing through a period of readjustment. A great war for justice has been fought and won. Old forms of government have fallen and democracy is attempting to establish herself upon the ruins. The destruction that was necessary to open the doors to human liberty was largely accomplished during the year that has come to a close. It will be a Happy New Year if the peoples of the world will be permitted to fully realize the fruits of freedom's victory. Let it be our first wish that this be done."

"To those who have lost a son or daughter in the war, I wish to express my sincere sympathy and hope that the New Year will bring consolation to their wounded hearts."

"To Wisconsin's soldiers who have been wounded, or are sick and are therefore sufferers, I wish that the New Year may bring new courage and speedy recovery."

CONFERENCE MAY NOT BE BEFORE 15 TH

Wilson's Trip to Italy Watched With Great Interest

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS Discussion on Coast Dispute With Jugo-Slavs to Come Up

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—The resignation of three Italian ministers may delay the opening of the preliminary peace conference until Jan. 15, according to the Echo de Paris. In addition to Leonida Bisolati, minister of military aid and war pensions, Signor Barenina, minister of education and Signor Bari, Minister of public works, are said to have left the Orlando cabinet.

Great interest is manifested among conference delegates and in French political circles in Pres. Wilson's trip to Italy because of the importance of the subjects he is expected to discuss there. Foremost among these subjects, it is supposed, will be questions relative to the Adriatic coast, and the Dalmatian coast, concerning which the Jugo-Slavs and the Italians are not in accord.

To Consider Jugo-Slavs' Claim

The pretensions of the Jugo-Slavs to Fiume and the Dalmatian coast are founded on their claim to a preponderance of the nationals in the populations there. According to the views of the Jugo-Slav leaders, the controversy involves the principle of the right of peoples to dispose of themselves. This is one of the first concrete questions of this kind that Pres. Wilson will be called upon to discuss.

Italy's historic claims together with her interest in ample protection along her Adriatic coast will naturally also be considered. Back by the president with Premier Orlando and Admiral Thaon Di Revel, an authority on matters pertaining to the Adriatic and commander of Italian naval forces now occupying the Dalmatian coast, are expected to clear up or conciliate many of the claims put forward by each side.

The Joy in "Thank You"

Under the law of compensation, many kind deeds are paid for with a word of appreciation. A simple "Thank you"—when it really comes from the heart—will change frowns to smiles.

Ingratitude is a sin that cannot be tolerated. It is almost unforgivable. It makes us think of the dog which bit the hand that fed it.

During this period of world-wide thanksgiving, we think of the many things for which we should be truly thankful. The gratitude of every human being should be poured out of hearts full of appreciation for the bounties of Providence.

Let us give thanks for the wonderful harvest—for a kind and benevolent Government—for the opportunities given efficient workers, and for the liberality with which honest effort is rewarded.

Let us be thankful that the devastating forces of war were kept from our fair land and that our homes, our wives, daughters and babies have been protected from this awful scourge. And give praise and thanks to God for "a peace that shall endure."

Not only should we get down on our knees and thank Almighty God for his wonderful blessings, but we should freely and cheerfully say "Thank you" to our friends and co-workers for every little word or act that contributes to our prosperity and happiness.

Let's displace ingratitude with appreciation.

A Happy New Year To All.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

THE CAPITAL TIMES wishes its readers one and all a happy and prosperous New Year.

LET'S GO!

THE boys in the army developed a philosophy of life which had the merit of accomplishing the thing at hand.

Let's Go! was a slogan that carried the idea of mass movement. It had back of it the desire and the determination to win.

There will be another day tomorrow! was another expression signifying the uselessness of worrying over present troubles. It meant hope and faith in the future.

With this spirit, this hope and this faith the boys went in to win and they won nobly and heroically. The war over these same boys will carry the same spirit into civil life which will help to make things go industrially.

A New Year is at hand. Let's Go! We know there are breakers ahead. But with the spirit of the boys in the army we can go through with colors flying.

We face a tremendous debt, but it is a debt to ourselves. Unlike the civil war debt, this debt has all been incurred at home. The payment of principle and interest will not send money abroad. As a nation it will not impoverish us.

Other nations have been large borrowers from us. So money will come to us from abroad.

A guaranteed price for wheat means a fair measure of prosperity for the farmers next year. For wheat is basic and the price of other crops will in large measure be regulated by the price of wheat.

In the building industry we are a year behind. There should be a substantial building program for 1919.

Railroad properties and public utilities are sadly in need of extensive repairs. Millions of dollars must be immediately invested in the upbuilding of our transportation systems.

There should be a busy year in shipbuilding immediately ahead. The great loss in ships during the war cannot be replaced for some time.

For another year at least there will be a need for our manufactured products abroad. The destruction in war must be replaced.

Panics are born of fear or produced by design. They are not natural or necessary. There is need for all we can supply, and to supply that need will furnish employment for everybody.

All we need is courage and determination to win in 1919. Let's Go!

LET WISCONSIN DO IT FIRST

It would be interesting to know how many of the hundred million Americans were compelled to camouflage their usual turkey dinner on Christmas day of prosperous 1918.

If ever in the past 50 years America has had reason to indulge in feasts of thanksgiving on Christmas day it was on that day of 1918. Supposedly, too, the people of America were never more abundantly able to afford the makings of such a feast. There is and has been work for everyone. Wages are the highest in the history of the country.

Yet we dare say a greater percentage of Americans camouflaged their Christmas dinner in 1918 than in any year for half a century. But it was a camouflage that didn't get by. The victims well knew that the royal bird and the usual festive fixings were not there.

The answer is easy. Turkey, 50 cents the pound; cranberries, 20 cents the quart, etc. The rest of the story is more familiar to every housewife in the land than to the writer.

High wages and plenty of work do not seem to entirely solve the problem for the fellow who has to provide the dinners on Christmas, New Year's and on every other day of the 365.

What are you going to do about it? says the profiteer.

Time was when profiteers could operate at almost any stage of the game of commerce and the chances were he wouldn't get found out. Some centuries ago the common people were supposed to consider themselves fortunate if they were allowed to hold onto what they could honestly produce and lay hold of. When the human strove with the beast of the forest he bore with more or less patience the days of his adversity. He knew that his turn would come and he would himself play the part of jolly robber. Later he discovered that as between man and man it was better to make laws and compel the other fellows to live up to them.

That was all quite well for the nabobs that made the laws. They made the laws to suit themselves.

This being the twentieth century of the Christian era the laws are made by the representatives of the people and supposedly for the benefit of all the people.

And still the profiteers roam at large. If they don't get us going they get us coming.

The state of Wisconsin can blame itself for much of this. Wisconsin has passed a lot of progressive laws in the past. It has passed some food laws, too. It has struck at food profiteering and has written into the statute books phrases well calculated to make the guilty tremble.

But did they tremble? Not for long.

The legislative dentist, it seems, was on the job all the time. When it came to using the laws for the protection of the public it was found that the teeth were missing.

When a group of men get together to plan ways and means of defeating the purpose of laws calculated to protect the people, it doesn't need a bunch of commissioners at $5,000 per to tell the people just how and why they have been flim-flammed. It doesn't need a bunch of lawyers to dissertate on the legality of the immorality that puts it over.

It needs a law with teeth that will get these fellows when their game is young.

If a yegg pulls a gun to shoot, does the cop await the murder to get conclusive evidence?

If you get the drop on the burglar in the kitchen do you wait till he reaches the silver?

Well then. How about these conspirators?

Why not get them when they start talking? Why should they be protected under the law even to the extent of getting together for the purpose of discussing how to put it over on the people? What business have they conspiring anyway? Let them tend to their own particular business.

Let's get them while the getting is good. Put teeth in the law. The people will take pleasure in electing the men to see it enforced.

This isn't Uncle Sam's job. Let Wisconsin do it.—Superior Telegram.

A Challenge to the Church

(From The Literary Digest)

The hour for the Church to act as a "mediator and interpreter" has come. Alarm-signals are sent out in many church organs calling attention to a war that seems to them to be kindling beneath the embers of the war just past, and one that holds a more fatal calamity for the human family than the one whose ravages we are now counting up. But the war will acknowledge no geographical boundaries; it will be between class and class—the workers and the employers. Russia, Austria, and Germany have furnished their examples; Sweden, Norway, and Holland have not been without portents. Even this country has heard some mutterings. The Church must know her clear duty, points out Mr. William E. Ellis in the Boston Transcript. "She must steady the thinking of the agitated and clarify the vision of the class-conscious at both ends of the social scale." He plainly tells the preachers of our land that the theme for their pulpits now is "the relation of individual regeneration to social reformation." "If leadership is alert in the churches, we shall see, so he predicts, that 'the dominant theme' for many months to come in all religious conventions and conferences and in the church press will be the social message of Christianity to the present time," for the rise of Bolshevism abroad is portentous with challenge to American Christianity.

"Suddenly aware of the gravity of this issue which is dividing entire nations and overturning old systems and dynasties, American churches are beginning to perceive that its importance outranks all questions of reorganization and money-raising for the coming days. If this nation must grapple with the stupendous social challenge that has arrested and engrossed the attention of Europe, then the churches are interested above all other agencies of organized life for social questions are within their distinctive sphere. We may expect in the pulpits of the country a wide spread discussion of Europe's revolutions and of the significance of the wave of radicalism."

"Certainly the churches should be sympathetic with every movement tending toward social progress, the amelioration of the masses, the righting of wrongs, and the emancipation of all men everywhere from bondage of mind or spirit or estate. Often the contrary attitude is charged against the churches. A back-nosed story has it that a group of workmen hissed the mention of the Church and cheered the name of Jesus. Radicals constantly claim that the Church is the defender and proponent of the privileged classes, the hiring of aristocracy and 'big business'."

"Whatever occasion there may have been for this indictment, it is simply not true as respects the church as a whole, and in her spirit and doctrine and membership. While the awakening of the Church to her social mission has been recent, it has been rapid. Hundreds of books upon the social conception of Christianity have been issued within a decade. That whatever affects human life concerns the Church has now become almost axiomatic in religious circles. There are no more ardent or clear-eyed exponents of the new era of brotherhood, democracy, and justice than ministers of the Gospel, who are heralds of the Kingdom of God on Earth."

"Nevertheless the churches will be found opposed to Bolshevism because of the essential nature of the latter. It is more than a revolt against social inequalities and injustices; it is avowedly a class propaganda of hatred. It repudiates all law and authority, human and divine, and frankly seeks the subjugation and extinction, when convenient, of all persons who do not belong to the proletariat. It knows no right except the assured right of the toiler to rule."

Now that Bolshevism is challenging the Western world, the churches must give themselves to self-examination. Mr. Ellis continues: "For if the sincere and brotherly teachings of Jesus and of the New Testament have been practised, there can be no need for the inauguration of another social order. Has the Church been true to her doctrine? Or has she, as James point out in his Epistle, shown special consideration to the man in goodly raiment and of high estate?"

"No fair-minded observer can claim that the churches of America are subordinated to what the Socialists call 'the interests' and 'plutocracy.' Equally, though, no fair-minded observer can deny that many individual churches, especially in cities, and most denominations, show special consideration to the wealthy and socially prominent. Leading laymen' is fairly a synonym for a man of wealth. A man does not need to be a clergyman, or a layman, or a large bank account which is reasonably accessible to Church causes, and an occasional attendance upon Church services, are enough to enroll a man in the category of eminence. Did anybody ever hear of a poor man, though a saint, a scholar, and a devoted Christian worker, becoming a 'leading layman'?"

"This condition proves the vulnerability of the Church. To this extent she is a class organization. And in so far as she has neglected to champion the cause of the oppressed, the neglected, the weak, and the suffering, she has opened herself to the shafts of the radical criticism; and what is more important, to the condemnations of her Lord."

The organs of the Methodist Church, particularly in the Middle West, show an apprehension of coming struggles. "It is an unfinished war," declares The Western Christian Advocate (Cincinnati):

"The cessation of the clash of arms today means only the shift of the base of operation. There is no light except as we see it in the soldier of democracy and in the Church becoming a radical force, preaching and insisting upon the application of Christ's principles of justice to all, ministry to the weak, and privileges to none."

An editorial recently published by The Christian Worker (New York) warns the Church of the changes the future has in store. It is stated to have been the last message written by Dr. Washington Gladden before his death. He said:

"Religion has appeared in all recent history as a divisive element, as an antagonistic force, separating men instead of uniting them; driving them apart instead of calling them together."

"This is certainly all wrong; it is the exact opposite of what religion ought to be. What is the matter with religion that it has become so perverted? It looks as though it had caught the taint of militaristic nationalism, and had learned in this way to be a divisive force. Certain it is that such religion as we have been familiar with does little to mitigate or restrain the antagonisms of nations, but rather aggravates them."

"Is not the conclusion irresistible that the kind of religion we have been most familiar with—the kind of Christianity, in fact, which we have been expected to believe in—has been a very defective sort, utterly failing to fulfill the functions for which it was designed about the nation? If we know anything about the nature and purpose of true religion it is designed to promote unity among men; to draw them together, to fill them with the spirit of harmony and cooperation. The disintegrating forces are always at work—the forces that divide and antagonize individuals and communities and nations; and it is the office of religion to hold in check these discordant and oppugnant elements, and to bring them into unity. Instead of being a disintegrating force, its function is the very opposite; it is the spirit of coherence, of agreement, of construction."

VETERAN CAPTAIN QUILTS

MANITOWOC—Capt. D. M. Cochran, for 19 years general superintendent of the Goodrich Transit company, on Saturday announced his retirement from the post, though he will remain with the company at Chicago. Capt. Cochran will be succeeded by Capt. Franklin, former captain of the Goodrich steamer "Indiana," and of late years assistant to Capt. Cochran. Capt. Cochran is one of the oldest vessels of the Great Lakes, having been for 60 years identified with the marine service.

Press Comment

THE MAN TO SEND.

Agriculture must have representatives at the Peace Conference. Otherwise the democracy of that great historical event will be fatally imperfect. The American farmer must insist on that. And among those who go to Paris to represent the great agricultural interests of America should be at least one transportation expert, for transportation is at the very heart of practically all the problems which farmers will have to solve in their work of feeding the war-worn world, as well as in securing justice at home for both producer and consumer.

The one transportation authority in the United States who is devoted to the best interests of the American farmer is the national president of the Society of Equity, J. N. Tittmore. He is at the head of the largest farmers' cooperative organization in the country and he has the energy and ability to command a hearing in any gathering of world statesmen. The service he would render at Paris would be such as no other man could give. The time, the circumstances and his position combine to render him a figure of world importance and we predict that if an agricultural delegation is sent to Paris, as it undoubtedly will be, J. N. Tittmore will not only be a member of it, but that he will be the head of the delegation. He is a student, a most persuasive orator, a master of his specialty and a friend of the people as distinguished from the big interests. Tittmore is the man.—Dodgeville Star-Republic.

AMERICA'S BATTLE FLEET IS HONORED BY THE NATION

Part of U. S. battle fleet in Hudson river, seen from Riverside drive, and Rear Admiral Gleaves on way to ship in power boat from U. S. S. Alabama during recent review.

America is now having its first glimpse of the great battle fleet which played such an important part in the war. The U. S. overseas fleet under command of Admiral Mayo recently returned from European waters and was given the greatest reception ever tendered a U. S. naval squadron when it steamed into New York harbor. Over ninety warships of various sizes and kinds joined in the gi-gantic review, which was witnessed by Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other dignitaries. The overseas fleet consisted of dreadnaughts and a fleet of destroyers and other craft.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

WHAT A DOLLAR USED TO DO

Back in the old burg a dollar was quite a piece of money and it made a regular noise. Nowadays it doesn't make any more noise than a feather falling on a plush carpet in the house next door.

Regarding this, a dollar used to speak with some authority. We remember when the members of our frat back in the old town decided to give a dinner party. There was to be forty at the party, and the committee went and laid the plans before Lem Higgins, proprietor of the O. K. restaurant. The menu was to be rather elaborate for our town, including stuffed celery, grilled chicken, endive salad, tri-colored ice cream and coffee.

We asked Lem if he could do it for $2.

Lem figured on it for a day or two and then told the committee he could furnish the layout for $2.15, but he couldn't do it for a cent less. "I would like to accommodate you boys," he said, "but the chickens alone will cost me nearly $2, although I raise them myself."

He didn't know that we meant $2 a plate. He thought the $2 was for the whole feed.

When we paid him the $80 he retired to private life and gave the restaurant to his nephew.

Ben De Casseres says one can get all one wants in life if he can learn to do without the things he can't get.

A description of heaven is to be written and published by a man who has made a practice of writing mining prospectuses. "At last," says Walter Kuitzer, "we shall have the real thing."

One of the first developments of the so-called peace is the reappearance of Harry Thaw in his old place on the first page. What d'ye mean, peace?

Any fellow who smokes those six-cent cigars can testify that there was a bumper hemp crop in this country this year.

We can't figure why some restaurants insist on mixing cement with anything as cheap as cornmeal is.

One of the problems of peace is how to prevail upon the dear girls to stop knitting.

What appears to the McPherson "Republican" man as frenzied finance: "I. T. Wedle of southeast of town, brought in thirteen turkeys yesterday, which he sold. On his way home he stopped at the Bonham sale and bought nine head of hogs, paid for them out of the check he had received for the turkeys and had a balance of $2.50 left."

A scientist says every woman should have a certain number of hours of play every day. Has this scientist never heard of our Neighborhood Whist club?

DINNER STORIES

There were visitors at the door, and as mother was not just ready to make her appearance, Tommy was told to let them in and show them into the drawing room.

This he did, and, while they all waited for mother to finish doing her back hair, the small boy sat very still and embarrassed.

Presently, seeing the visitors taking stealthy glances around the little room, he remarked politely: "Well, what do you think of our furniture?"

"There were two actresses in an early play of mine," said an actor, "both very beautiful; but the leading lady was thin. She quarrelled one day at rehearsal with the other lady, and she ended the quarrel by saying, haughtily: 'Remember, please, that I am the star!'"

"Yes, I know you're the star," the other retorted, eyeing with an amused smile the leading actress' long, slim figure, "but you'd look better, my dear, if you were a hot meteor!"

For three successive nights Ned popped walked the floor with the bit. On the fourth night he became desperate and bought a bottle of sewing syrup.

"Why, James," exclaimed his wife when she saw the bottle, "what you buy that for? Don't you see it is very dangerous to give a child anything like that?"

"Don't worry," was her husband's reply. "I'm going to take it myself."

KIDNEY BOTHERS QUIT MEAT WHEN

Take a Glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous "salts" is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

GOOD TO EAT.
Self-Frosting Carrot Pie—Bake two pie crusts same as for lemon pie.

Filling: Have two cups of cooked and mashed carrots; add one teaspoon sugar one-half teaspoon salt, one scant teaspoon ginger, one large teaspoon of cinnamon, one large teaspoon of nutmeg, yolks of two eggs, leaving whites for frosting. Bring one pint of milk to boil, dissolve four tablespoons of flour in a little cold milk, add to the boiling milk when it starts to thicken. Add the carrots with seasoning and stir till thick.

Fill the baked crust and put the beaten whites on top.

Squash or pumpkin can be made the same way. This pie has no soft crust like many pumpkin pies.

Corn-Meal Fish Balls With Sauce—Mush: One quart boiling water, one cup corn-meal. Filling: One cup cooked fish (bones removed), one teaspoon onion (chopped), two teaspoons salt, one-quarter green pepper (chopped), one-half egg, well beaten.

Stir the corn-meal slowly into the boiling salted water. Boil ten minutes, stirring constantly, then mix in double boiler for one and one-half hours. Cool. Shape into balls two inches in diameter and fill with the fish which has been mixed with the onion, green pepper, salt and pepper. Dip into the beaten egg.

Heart and Beauty Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am awfully worried over something I have done. I was engaged to a very dear boy in France and I got worried over a little matter and wrote him asking to break our engagement. Now I am sorry. I haven't received any answer from him yet.

Should I write him another letter and tell him I did not mean it, or wait until I hear from him.

LOVER'S LEAP.

You must use your very best judgment in this matter if you expect to have the outcome satisfactory. Did you have a good reason to break your engagement? If you did, wait until the man returns and asks your forgiveness before you renew your engagement. He will respect you more if you show resentment over an injury than if you accept it without an apology from him. In case you broke your engagement without the young man's doing anything to deserve it, you should write to him now. "Be very sure of your love before you renew your engagement."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Do you think a man thirty-four years old is too old to marry a girl twenty-one?

(2) Do you think a poor girl should marry a boy higher in life than she is, or in other words a rich boy?

THANK YOU.

(1) A girl of twenty-one is too young to marry a man twelve years older than herself. If, at the age of twenty-five or more, she made such a choice I would think that she was then into the corn-meal. Brown in a small amount of fat.

Cheese Sauce (For use with eggs, milk toast, or other dishes)—One cup of milk, one tablespoon cottage cheese, two tablespoons of flour, salt and pepper to taste.
Thicken the milk with the flour and just before serving add the cheese, stirring until it is melted.
This sauce may be used in preparing creamed eggs or for ordinary milk toast. The quantity of cheese in the recipe may be increased, making a sauce suitable for using with macaroni or rice.

Clam Pie—Put one pint of clams or one can of canned clams through a foodchopper. With the liquor mix one tablespoon of flour diluted with a little cold water and add to the clams. Season with salt and pepper. Lay in clams and put on a top crust. Dot small pieces of butter over top crust and bake in hot oven about twenty minutes.

Peanut Rice Salad—Three tablespoons rice, juice of one large or two small oranges, one-half cup finely chopped (or ground) peanuts. Wash rice, cook seven minutes in boiling salted water. Drain. Dilute the orange juice with water so as to make one cup of liquid; pour over rice and cook in double boiler until rice is tender. Cool, mix (using a fork) with the peanuts, sprinkled with a little salt. Arrange on lettuce leaves with small balls made from cream cheese, and serve with French dressing. When oranges are not so expensive use full cup of orange juice in place of diluting.
Mock Minicomet—One box small raisins (seeded), six apples chopped fine, one-half cup bread crumbs, one cup sugar, one-half cup molasses, three cups water, one tablespoon vinegar, two teaspoons cinnamon, one-half teaspoon cloves, salt and pepper to taste, butter or substitute size of walnut.

Boil all together until apples are tender. Enough for two large pies; delicious and cheap.

old enough to know her own mind. At twenty-one a girl has just started out in life and needs a few more years of experience before she should settle down with a man so much older than herself.

(2) She should not marry him unless she is very sure that she can fit into his world and grow socially and mentally as her husband grows. A girl with little education, lack of social training and a feeling of self-satisfaction would soon be a disappointment to her husband and would lose his love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Which girl will make the better wife, a high-tempered or even-tempered one?

ROBERT.

Such a matter is a question of taste. Some men prefer a woman who is temperamental because they consider her changeable and interesting. Other men would rather have a wife who is even-tempered and pleasant no matter what the circumstances.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl nineteen years old and I am corresponding with a sailor who is twenty-one years old. We have loved each other ever since we were in the primary grades.

We had corresponded regularly of late years, but we had a little misunderstanding some time ago and we went a few months without writing. Not long after we stopped corresponding he joined the navy. He wrote to me from his naval base and begged me to write to him, which I did.

He seems to love me dearly for a time and then he becomes interested in other girls, but he always comes back to me. Do you think he really cares for me?

BLACK EYES.

He does care for you or he would not come back repeatedly. Probably you give him too much of yourself. Go with other boys, too, and do not write so regularly that he can tell just when he will hear from you. If he wants me of you than he can have you will keep his interest and he will have no desire to go with other girls.

DANIELS URGES U. S. KEEP UP NAVAL POLICE

Asks for New $600,000,000

Three Year Program
Appropriation

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON—Mr. Daniels declared the United States, having pledged its support to small nations, should build a navy second to none in the world if an international tribunal with power to enforce its rulings failed to become a reality.

Appearing before the house naval committee in behalf of the new $600,000,000 three-year building program, Secy. Daniels said if a league of nations were organized the United States should be prepared to contribute as large a unit as any other nation to an international police force, and that without an international agreement for reduction of armaments the American policy of naval expansion should be continued indefinitely.

In formally submitting the new building program, the secretary urged a provision for suspension of construction at the order of the president whenever an international agreement is made for armament reduction.

The secretary submitted to the committee a report showing the present comparative strength of the large navies of the world.

Great Britain has in operation or building 61 battleships, 13 battle cruisers, 31 heavy cruisers, 111 light cruisers, 216 patrol and gun boats, 409 destroyers, 219 submarines, 98 torpedo boats, 32 flotilla leaders, 220 airships and 897 miscellaneous ships.

The United States, with the second largest navy in the world has built or projected 39 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 8 armored cruisers, 40 light cruisers, 342 destroyers, 181 submarines, 15 coast torpedo vessels, 17 torpedo boats and 569 other vessels.

France has 29 battleships, 21 cruisers, 8 light cruisers, 92 destroyers, 121 torpedo boats, 70 submarines, 39 airships and 183 other craft.

Italy has 18 battleships, 7 cruisers, 10 light cruisers, 5 monitors, 15 flotilla leaders, 54 destroyers, 33 torpedo boats, 85 submarines, 30 airships and 442 miscellaneous craft.

Russia before quitting the war had 18 battleships, 4 battle cruisers, 12 heavy and 9 light cruisers, 128 destroyers, 54 submarines, 13 torpedo boats, 14 airships and 60 miscellaneous vessels.

Before the armistice was signed Germany had 47 battleships, 6 battle cruisers, 51 other cruisers, 223 destroyers, 175 torpedo boats, 243 submarines and 564 miscellaneous vessels.

The Beavers will not hold a meeting tomorrow night.

JUDGE RUSHED PATCHING UP FAMILY AFFAIRS

Hoppmann Busy Days and Nights "Fixing up"
Others' Troubles

That a judge cannot work night and day patching up family troubles, studying juvenile cases, investigating mothers' pensions, and a score of other things—commendable and important as these matters are—without slighting the regular court work, is a situation of which Judge A. C. Hoppmann of the superior court has been compelled to take cognizance.

In the past two years there has probably been more cases settled in Judge Hoppmann's chambers than have come up for formal court action. At times the judge's office has been more of a social center where neighborhood troubles and family infelicities are smoothed out. That this aspect of Judge Hoppmann's work has been taking a disproportionate amount of his time and energy is evident by the following New Year's announcement issued by him:

Fixes Up Family Troubles
"After two and a half years of experience in my present work, I find it necessary to make some changes. In addition to the criminal and civil work, mothers' pensions and juvenile court work, I have conducted a domestic relations court, that is, fixing up family troubles, neighborhood troubles, and other small matters in my chambers without the aid of attorneys and without the notoriety of any court procedure, and without any expense to the parties, and families involved. At first this did not take up much of my time, but it soon became quite generally known that I was doing that work and then the numbers of such matters has steadily increased until now they average four or five per week.

As both sides of the controversy, of course, must be heard, and the root or roots of the troubles located, and then the faults of each side frankly and firmly pointed out, all of which takes time, and being of the opinion that "what is worth doing at all is worth doing well," such matters necessarily therefore have taken a great deal of my time. All this work was, of course, wholly voluntary on my part, and not provided for in the law.

Works in Evenings
"In order to carry this extra load and do my other regular work, I have been compelled to come back to my chambers to work almost every evening, for the past two years, except during the summer months. I have enjoyed this extra work, and gladly gave the time and energy. I am a firm believer in the domestic relations court through its operation many a divorce can be avoided and many a home saved, and I regret that I cannot continue to give further time to holding such court.

I find that my regular work is pressing upon my time so much that I cannot continue to carry on this extra load. I am now far behind in my regular court work and I owe it to the attorneys and the litigants having cases pending to give these matters my entire time after Jan. 1, 1919."

BADGER ATTACK
UPSETS NORMAL
QUINTET, 39-18

Fanning, Bauer, and Pease

Star in Wisconsin

Victory

MILWAUKEE — Starting the second half with the familiar Badger whirlwind attack, Fanning, Mac Intosh, Bauer, and Pease caged one basket after another in quick succession taking the spectators of their feet and rolling up a score of 39 to 18 against their Milwaukee Normal opponents, Monday night.

The Normals finished the first half in the lead, 11 to 9, but were completely overwhelmed in the first five minutes of the second period and the only time they seriously threatened again was at the end of the game when they caged baskets in quick succession.

Badgers' Look Good

Fanning at Center played a star game, caging six baskets. Bauer seemed to travel like lightning to the bewildered Green and White players, and his free-throwing was again a feature of the game. Pease at guard repeatedly broke up Normal plays and shared honors with Fanning and Bauer. Wolters and Hammer put up the best game for the Normal quintet.

16 Year Old Boy Battles
Wounded Buck In Adirondacks

The following account of the battle of a sixteen-year-old boy with an enraged and wounded buck of great size is told by the Adirondack Enterprise published at Saranac Lake in the Adirondacks. The hero of the story is Miles Cantwell, son of John M. Cantwell, a lawyer of Malone, N. Y.

Get Big Buck

"Yesterday morning a hunting party comprising Francis B. Cantwell, his cousin, Miles Cantwell of Malone, Leslie Hathaway of Saranac Lake and Charles Fortune of Franklin Falls returned with a handsome big buck weighing 212 pounds. It was entered in the cup contest at Weir's market, where it was on display yesterday, attracting much attention.

"The Big-buck was brought down after a hard fight. The party was hunting on Mr. Fortune's farm at Franklin Falls Tuesday. F. B. Cantwell and Mr. Hathaway made a drive and started up the big buck. Miles Cantwell, who is sixteen years old, was stationed in a notch at the top of the hill.

"When the buck started Hathaway fired at him and hit him, but he continued on. Young Cantwell saw the buck coming straight for him at a terrific pace. It almost ran over him. He had an automatic shotgun loaded with buckshot.

Uses Automatic

"He fired three shots at the buck, knocking him down twice. Then the animal turned and charged at the boy. Cantwell drew fire, breaking the deer's front leg and knocking it down. He hurried over to it and fired several shots at it, hitting it behind the shoulder.

DOVER, Eng.—Pres. Wilson and his party sailed from Dover for Calais at 11:20 o'clock this morning.

LONDON—King George and Queen Mary and the Duke of Cornwall accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wilson to the station. Mrs. Wilson shook hands with Queen Mary and shook hands with all present as the train pulled out.

The king and queen waved their handkerchiefs and the band played as it left the station.

It was a dark and rainy morning but crowds lined the streets from Buckingham palace to the station and cheered as the procession passed. Pres. Wilson and King George were in the first carriage; Mrs. Wilson, Queen Mary and Princess Mary in the second, and members of the president's party and court officials were in the three other carriages.

to King George, Queen Mary and Princess Mary in the waiting room and then took their leave of Premier Lloyd George, Andrew Bonar Law, Lord Robert Cecil and Sir Eric Geddes, who were at the station.

As Queen Mary and Mrs. Wilson followed by Pres. Wilson and King George left the waiting room the band played "Over There." The guests on the platform applauded enthusiastically.

With Mr. and Mrs. Wilson enroute to Dover were Lord Herschell, Sir Charles Cuse, John W. Davis, Vice Admiral Sir Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, Maj. Gen. John Biddle, Col. William W. Harts and Miss Edith Benham, secretary to Mrs. Wilson.

Board Steamer

DOVER—The presidential train reached Dover at 11 o'clock and left the station at 11:20 for Calais.

Queen Mary and Mrs. Wilson carried on an animated conversation to the last moment, Pres. Wilson having to call Mrs. Wilson's attention to the fact that the train was pulling out.

most immediately on the cross channel trip. The morning was cold and fog with a sharp east wind whipping the channel white caps. Notwithstanding both Pres. and Mrs. Wilson remained on the bridge until the steamer left her pier. They smiled and waved farewells to those on shore while the band played the "Star Spangled Banner."

On their arrival on the platform of the station when the train reached here from London, a guard of honor consisting of a company of Royal Fusiliers and blue jackets from the Dover patrol was lined up to greet the party. The president was received by Commander Boyle, secretary of Vice Admiral Sir Roger Keyes.

ELEPHANTINE

Four Pachyderms Have Holiday in Winnipeg—One Wrecks a Wall of a House.

WINNIPEG—Four elephants brought here to perform in a vaudeville theater this week broke away from their keepers on Monday and made Winnipeg their playground for three hours.

One of the animals became wedged between two houses and pulled a part of the walls away with her. She then paid a formal visit to the General hospital power house, broke in the door with a gentle rap and advanced in a friendly fashion to meet Engineer J. Kral, who was in charge. Kral rubbed his eyes, remembered an important errand he had, and disappeared. The animal scratched her back on the switchboard, reducing it to twisted metal.

The four trunks were finally rounded up and captured.

G. Lehmann had his leg broken when three of the elephants entered the building he was in and rushed him through the other side.

HULL REPORTS BUSY YEAR FOR WISCONSIN

Department Has Received Over 700,000 Letters and 205,000 Checks

The department of state is closing a very busy calendar year. There has been a large increase in the volume of business, and the financial receipts of the office have been doubled.

During the year just closing, the department has received and dispatched more than 700,000 pieces of mail, an average above 2,000 pieces per day. This includes over 205,000 letters with checks and money orders for motor vehicle licenses, and the mailing of an equal number of licenses and motor plates. The corporation division mail comes next, with approximately 55,000 inclosures sent and received.

Growth Is Large.

The growth in the motor vehicle division during the year kept pace with the annual progress in the few previous years so far as increase in number of vehicles was concerned, but the amount of license money increased in far greater proportion because of the advance in the fees provided by the legislature of 1917.

For the calendar year 1917, the total receipts for motor vehicle licenses were $361,283, of which $222,655 was from automobiles and motor trucks, $61,958 from motorcycles and $21,670 from dealers. The number of automobiles and trucks licensed was 164,331; motorcycles, 8,479, and dealers, 2,167.

For 1918, the total receipts have been $2,074,152, of which $1,894,360 was received from automobiles, $113,340 from trucks, $28,952 from motorcycles, and $37,500 from dealers. The total number of automobiles licensed in 1918 was 189,436; motor trucks, 6,817; motorcycles, 7,238, and dealers, 1,500.

All money received from motor vehicles, except the actual expense for plates, postage and administration, are spent upon the highways of the state.

Law Is Enforced.

One other feature of the work of the automobile division was the first attempt made by the department to enforce the payment of license fees by means of traveling inspectors. Two inspectors were placed in the field for four months at a cost of less than $2,000, while the results of their work brought in about $21,000. Some of these funds came from parties who were unintentionally violating the law because of ignorance of its provisions, but in many cases license fees were secured from parties who were intentionally attempting to operate cars without licenses. The inspectors met with the very cordial cooperation of the sheriffs and local police officials over the state, and also that of many dealers and individuals.

The corporation division granted charters to 945 domestic corporations during the year, and granted 163 licenses to foreign corporations. Domestic corporations filed 671 amendments. Sixteen foreign corporations withdrew from the state and dissolutions were filed by 380 corporations. The total number of domestic corporations in the state is approximately 15,000, and the number of foreign corporations authorized to do business in Wisconsin is approximately 2,000.

Many Licensed Notaries.

The notarial division issued 2,787 notary public commissions during the year.

The general work of the office has increased but not in the same large proportion as that of the several divisions specifically mentioned. The regular primary and general elec-

MANCHESTER—The text of the president's address to the Free Trade hall audience is as follows:

"My lord mayor, ladies and gentlemen:

"Perhaps I may be permitted to add, fellow citizens:

"You have made me feel in a way that is deeply delightful the generous welcome which you have accorded me, and back of it I know there lies the same sort of feeling for the great people whom I have the privilege of representing.

"There is a feeling of cordiality, fraternity and friendship between the two great nations, and as I have gone from place to place and been made everywhere to feel the pulse of sympathy that is now beating between us, I have been led to some very serious thoughts as to what the basis of it all is.

Defines Friendship

"For I think you will agree with me that friendship is not a mere sentiment. Patriotism is not a mere sentiment. It is based upon a principle, upon the principle that leads a man to give more than he demands. Similarly, friendship is based not merely upon affection, but upon common service. The man is not your friend who is not willing to serve you, and you are not his friend unless you are willing to serve him. And out of that impulse of common interest and desire of common service arises that noble feeling which we consecrate as friendship.

"And so it does seem to me that the theme that we must have in our minds now in this great day of settlement is the theme of common interest. You know that heretofore the world has been governed, or at any rate the attempt has been made to govern it, by partnership of interest, and that they have broken down.

Interest Separates Men

"Interest does not bind men together. For the moment there is the slightest departure from the nice adjustment of interests, then jealousies begin to spring up. There is only one thing that can bind peoples together and that is common devotion to right.

UNIVERSITY STARTS WORK IN AMERICANIZING

D. D. Lesiohier Heads Course to be Tried Out in Milwaukee

The campaign of Americanism is being launched in the state of Wisconsin under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin. Some time ago D. D. Lesiohier was chosen as head of the work and has already begun the campaign.

"We are preparing a course for the training of teachers for Americanization classes to be given in Milwaukee under the extension division of the university," said Mr. Lesiohier today. "This course will continue for about 10 weeks, three nights a week. The course will cover the history of immigration, tion work involved the usual amount of attention, and in addition to that was the extra effort required in conducting two elections for soldiers in the army camps at the special senatorial election in April, and the general election in November.

begin men have talked about their rights and it has taken several hundred years to make them perceive that the principal condition of right is duty and that, unless a man performs his full duty he is entitled to no right. It is a fine correlation of the influence of duty that right is the equipoise and balance of society.

"And so when we analyze the present situation and the future that we now have to mould and control, it seems to me there is no other thought than that that can guide us. You know that the United States has always felt from the very beginning of her history that she must keep herself separate from any kind of connection with European politics.

Interest of United States

"I want to say very frankly to you that she is not now interested in European politics but she is interested in the partnership of right between America and Europe. If the future had nothing for us but a new attempt to keep the world at a right peace by a balance of power the United States would take no interest, because she will join no combination of power which is not a combination of all of us. She is not interested merely in the peace of Europe, but in the peace of the world.

"Therefore, it seems to me that in the settlement which is just ahead of us something more delicate and difficult than was ever attempted before has to be accomplished—a genuine concert of mind and of purpose. But while it is difficult there is an element present that makes it easy. Never before in the history of the world I believe has there been such a keen international consciousness as there is now.

"There is a great voice of humanity abroad in the world just now which he who cannot hear is deaf. There is a great compulsion of the common conscience now in existence which if any statesmen resist he will gain the most unenviable eminence in history. We are not obeying the mandates of parties or of politics. We are obeying the mandate of humanity.

racial composition of Wisconsin and Milwaukee, race psychology, methods of teaching English and citizenship to foreigners.

"We are cooperating with the school authorities in Racine to provide definite training of 482 candidates for naturalization. This is to be an experiment to try out a plan to be used throughout the state.

"We will have a lecture course and round table on Americanization in the summer session at the university.

"We are establishing an information bureau on Americanization in the extension division.

"We are cooperating with the council of defense of state, school authorities and other agencies to work out a plan of Americanization work in Wisconsin."

The above is the first announcement which Mr. Lesiohier has made regarding the plan for Americanization in Wisconsin. Many of his courses will be experimental in nature. He is delivering a large number of lectures throughout the state at teachers' associations and other public institutions.

UNION LABOR OPPOSES STRIKE IN MILWAUKEE

F. J. Weber Says Federation Not in Sympathy With Benefit Association

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE—Union labor is not in sympathy with the proposed strike of motormen and conductors in the employ of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company here, according to Frank J. Weber, one of the leading officials of the Wisconsin federation of labor. Mr. Weber says if a strike should occur, that the company will be able to secure plenty of union men to run the cars.

The street railway employees who demand an increase in wages are members of an Employees' Mutual Benefit association which is fostered by the company.

It is said that street cars will be operated throughout tonight but will not be taken out tomorrow.

ADVERTISEMENTS

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feed like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become cranks on the subject shortly.

CAPT. WATSON SINGS PRAISES OF BADGERS

Tells of Wisconsin Men Tearing Hole in German Ranks

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Among the men who arrived from France on the Saxonia was Capt. Thomas A. Watson, formerly assistant postmaster at Fond du Lac, Wis., who was awarded the croix de guerre for exceptional heroism. When his regiment started for France, he said, it was composed entirely of Wisconsin men, but the casualties have been so heavy that it now has 1,700 replacement men from all states.

Capt. Watson, for twenty years a member of the Wisconsin national guard, got a machine gun bullet through the right shoulder, but rather than tell of that little incident he saw fit to extol the guardsmen for the wonderful fighting ability they displayed when they faced the Germans at Fismes.

"On that memorable day," he said,

St. Andrew's Episcopal Rector Resigns; to go to Cincinnati

Rev. Robert M. Hogarth, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, has resigned in order to accept a parish at Walnut Hills, Cincinnati. He has been pastor of the local church for the past two years. The resignation has been accepted by the church and will go into effect Feb. 1. Rev. Howard St. George will occupy the pulpit until a new rector is secured.

"The 128th infantry tore such a hole in the German ranks that the Heines will never forget that there is such a place on the map as Wisconsin and other places in our immediate center. When that big fight was at an end there was something like 1,700 of the 128th listed among the killed, wounded and missing, a 'fair sized casualty list' for one unit."
